

Plan to get out. Alive.

This is the Fire Escape Plan for Our House

Draw a plan of your house. Show all the doors and windows that can be used as exits in case of fire.

Use this map as your family's fire escape plan. HANG IT UP WHERE EVERYONE CAN SEE IT.

For Mom and Dad . . . how you can help.

Fire is a serious business. Half of all fires in Canada occur in the home, including most fatal fires. Planning now to escape a fire can save lives! By helping your children understand the safe way out of your house, you can improve their chances of surviving a terrifying fire at home.

Alternate Exits

Talk to your children about alternate ways to get out of your home in case of fire. Use the plan of your home to discuss where alternate exits are possible - like ground floor windows - and where they are not. Stress the importance of getting out FIRST, and meeting other family members at a pre-arranged spot.
