BOOK OF SOLIDARITY OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Welland, ON – In the wake of the November 13, terrorist attacks on France, the international community has expressed messages of solidarity and peace from all corners of the globe. As a gesture of sympathy and support, Welland's Bridge 13 glowed Frances' colours of blue, white, and red on the evening following the tragedy. All flags at Welland Civic Square were set at half-mast Sunday for three days of mourning.

To help Welland residents express their support for France, a Book of Solidarity is available for people to sign and share their thoughts.

Mayor Frank Campion, urges people to visit Civic Square over the next two weeks to view and sign the book. "We are asking the Citizens of Welland to share their thoughts and show their support for the people of Paris by leaving a message and signing the Book of Solidarity," said Campion.

The Book of Solidarity is currently available in the lobby of Welland Civic Square, located at 60 East Main Street Welland.
